

U@Uni Academy badge: Communication

Congratulations on earning your Communication badge. You have demonstrated 21st century skills – valuable skills that you will use as you move on to further study and work post-high school.

You can include this achievement in your portfolio and CV. Educational institutions, organisations and employers are looking for individuals with 21st century skills: highly valued qualities in our rapidly changing world and workforce.

When applying for post-school study, or your first job, you can use the following descriptions in your applications or interviews to demonstrate the skills you have gained. These are what you were assessed against in order to achieve your badge – so you have skills listed below – congratulations!

The person who has earned this badge has demonstrated 21st century communication skills, which includes: the capacity to participate in productive working relationships; actively listening to others so that they feel valued and heard; acknowledge others' feelings; and incorporate different perspectives in the group.

Badge criteria

- preparedness to listen to others
- respect for others' ideas
- present valuable ideas
- offer constructive criticism to further group goals
- offer help to other students