

Bachelor of Midwifery

Midwifery is focused on the care of women during pregnancy, labour, birth and up to six weeks post-partum. Midwives work in partnership with women and their families to provide support, care and advice throughout these milestone life events.

Choose this degree and you'll directly qualify to apply for registration as a Registered Midwife (RM) with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia.

UTS is leading the way when it comes to midwifery education – we're ranked #1 in Australia for our academic reputation in nursing and midwifery[^], and we were the first to establish a stand-alone Bachelor of Midwifery in NSW.

Learn from the best

Our course is led by highly qualified teaching staff with extensive experience in midwifery clinical, education, policy and research roles. They collaborate with midwives and doctors in maternity units and community settings, ensuring your learning reflects the realities of today's midwifery practice.

Industry-connected

We're affiliated with some of the best maternity units and community settings across NSW. These connections provide valuable clinical experiences and they're a great starting point for building your professional network.

What will clinical placements look like?

First year	Second year	Third year
On campus: 3-5 days per week – First placement: 48 hours – Second placement: 128 hours – Third placement: 64 hours	On campus: 3-5 days per week – First placement: 128 hours – Second placement: 160 hours – Third placement: 80 hours	On campus 8 weeks over the year, placement 3-5 days per week for 20 weeks over the year.

Students are required to work on-call throughout the degree for the women they are following in continuity models.
